POETRY.

Labor.

Toil swings the ax, and forests bow;
The seeds break out in radiant bloom;
Rich harvests smile behind the plow,
And cities cluster round the loom.
With tottering domes and tapering spires
Adorn the vale and crown the hill,
Stout labor lights its beacon fires,
A plumes with smoke the forge and mill.

The monarch oak, the woodland's pride,
Whose trunk is seamed with lightning scars;
Toil launches on the restless tide,
And there unrolls the flag of stars;
The engine with its lungs of flame.
And ribs of brass and joints of steel,
From labor's plastic fingers came,
With sobbing valve and whirling wheel.

'Tis labor works the magic press,
And turns the crank in hives of toil;
And beckons angels down to bless
Industrious hands on sea and soil,
Here sunbrowned Toil with shining spade,
Links lake to lake with silver ties,
Strung thick with palaces of trade,
And temples towering to the skies.

A Husband's "Friend"--A Story of Australia.

A painful circumstance, says one of the Australian papers, was related to us yesterday, the accuracy of which we are well able to vouch for. A hard-working laboring man, who came to Geelong about three years back, had, by long toil, and by dint of great thrift, saved as much money as enabled him to remit home a sufficient sum to send for his wife, a very amiable and respectable woman, and her young child. This sum he intrusted to a fellow home-townsmen, with instructions to hand it over to his wife, at the same time directing in what manner she should secure her passage out to the colony. This friend on arriving in England, instead of following the directions of the husband, informed the woman that he had died of fever in the hospital, without leaving a single penny, and that he had been buried at his expense. Allowing a sufficient time to elapse, the confidant of the unfortunate man's dearest wishes made overtures to the wife, and ultimately, by his diabolical representations, prevailed upon her to marry him. The marriage had not been consummated more than two months, when another acquaintance arriving from Australia, fell in with the woman and related to her the anxiety of her husband, who would, by that time, be expecting her arrival. Terrified by such an announcement, and scarcely knowing which story to credit, the woman charged her new husband with the duplicity he had practiced, when, taken by surprise, he confessed that he had made her the victim of his deceit. A separation immediately followed, when the unhappy woman, instituting some searching inquiries ascertained that her second husband was a married man, with a wife and several children, whom he had left behind him in Australia. Absolutely helpless, and without one penny in the world, she laid her complaint before some wealthy gentlemen in Rochester, where she was residing, who, sympathizing with her distress, raised sufficient money to pay her passage out here, where she arrived a fortnight back. On seeking for her husband, she ascertained he was residing in South Geelong, but was horrified on being informed that he had only lately got married. Seeking out his residence, she met him at the door of his own house, and, while relating to him her own sad state, she accused him of having betrayed her by marrying another woman. The husband (with two wives) then explained that he had some time back received a letter from the friend by whom he had remitted the money for her to come to the colony, stating she was dead, and that he was taking care of his infant daughter, for which reason he had not returned the money intrusted to him, as he was applying it to the child's education. The husband then introduced his first wife to his new bride, when, we are told a scene ensued which beggars all description. The whole affair has been submitted to mutual friends to decide on. The originator of all these domestic troubles is still in England, and it will be difficult to decide upon how he shall be dealt with. All the people are respectable persons.

A FUSE EXPECTED.--An old fellow, who became weary of his life, thought he might commit suicide; but he did not wish to go without first forgiving all his enemies. So cogitating within himself, he at last removed the noose from his neck, saying:
"No, 'twon't do--can't go. I never can and never will forgive old Noah for letting them copperhead snakes into the ark. The nasty varnents have killed two thousand dollars worth of my cattle, and when we meet I know there'll be a general fuss. See if there won't."

Reconstruction.

Why should we disguise the truth? There are enough of men who are blinded--enough, though not blinded, are mute--enough who, though they talk, talk round the issue that is before us. But, there are just two dominant, cardinal ideas, on one or the other of which our political questions are turning. The one the idea of construction--the other the idea of destruction. The DESTROYERS are not hard to find--we mean those whose idea is the destructive. They are those who, years ago, proposed in the Senate to dissolve the Union of our country. They are those who denounced the Constitution as "a league with death and a covenant with hell." They are those who took it as their rallying cry among the people that our country, as the forefathers constituted it, was already a "house divided against itself," and could not stand. They are those who inaugurated, as the basis of sectional organization, the idea that there was "an irrepressible conflict of opposing and enduring forces" between the geographical sections of the country. They are those that would not, in the last struggle for adjustment, accept of Douglas' compromise, or of Crittenden's compromise, or of any compromise. They are those who shouted for blood. They are those who howl with rage when they hear of a battle field won without torrents of blood. The destroyers are not hard to find.

The conservators, and constructives, are also to be found. They are those that clung to the hope of a preserved and growing country. They are those who wanted to tear down nothing, to root up nothing. They are those who know that cuncti is the condition of all true union, and that compromise is the condition of all political peace. They are those brave men who, if they have taken up arms, and put their bodies in front of the battle, and shed their blood, have done it--not with the idea of destroying the country as it used to be--but of saving, and of restoring it to its old estate. They are those who, at whatever risk, at whatever loss, have not ceased from testifying to, abiding by, the great sheet anchors of free government, or from proclaiming that positive, not destructive, healing, not wounding, measures must, at last, be resorted to for the reparation of what the country suffers.

It has been sought to hush the voices of those conservators. Vain attempt! The ideas they embody are a positive force. Their latent power will become only the greater by whatever degree of compression may be attempted. It is the force of nature, and nature is driven out of its course, only to come back at a gallop.

The time has come when that voice must be heard. It must sound from city to city, from village to village, from farm to farm. It must travel over all the roads, and echo from hill top to hill-top. There is no nook so secluded where an American freeman shelters, that he must not hear the summons. The issue is very simple. It is

Conservatism, or Destruction!
Building, or Tearing Down!
Constitution, or Despotism!
Laws, or Bayonets!
The Past Restored, or the Present Perpetuated!

Conservatives, constructives, positive men, men of progress--rightly understood, these are all the same--will choose, nay, have chosen, their part. But how? How are we to restore the past? How are we to restore the principles of the laws and of the Constitution? How are we to build?

Our answer to these questions does not touch the present conduct of the war. This is assumed to be carried on by somebody, without the advice or consultation of the public press.

Our answer does not touch the present action of the Administration at Washington, or the present Congress. We frankly confess that--if free to do it, or even solicited--we are incapable of advising the one or the other--they being what they are.

Our answer implies that the present Congress must be endured, because it is still a constitutional existence for nearly ten months to come. The executive--that is, the President and the constitutional advisers he has around him--must be supported, within the bounds of the Constitution, because he and they are not impeached, and it is a moral requirement of the Constitution, which we love, and are bound to support; with all its burdens as well as its blessings. Our answer is simple and shall be stated in brief terms. To build, to restore, to reconstruct, the people must do, and of something they must believe, in regard to politics.

The thing that they must do, is, in the election next Fall, to see to it that every State--at least every State from New York to the Pacific Ocean--is put, as a State Government, into the hands of men professing, and faithful, too, that Democracy, under which the past happiness of the country has been secured, and the achieved glories all attained. It is not because it is the party, we say it, but because its past successes in administering the country have been owing to the principles of its party creed. Along with electing the Legislatures, these States must send in the same way, not simply a majority, but an overwhelming majority, of true and tried, and able Democrats, to the popular House of Congress for the next year. This will be the most potent evidence that can be afforded to the beguiled and deceived people of the South, that the people of the North are determined to restore, in principle and in spirit, the old Constitution. This is what the people must do, and the majority of their popular vote in doing it, should, as we believe it will, be prodigious.

There is something the people must be taught to believe in politics. It is the hierarchy of ideas that govern our American plan of government. It is on the basis of a firm belief in this hierarchy of ideas that the people should move in restoring the Democratic party to power. It has, for more than half a century, been recognized as a main article of the Democratic creed. In this hierarchy the laws are considered as limiting and controlling the governmental administrators of the laws as completely as they control the quietest private citizen; constitutions are considered as controlling and limiting laws, and the people, only, and that only when acting organically in constitutive modes, as having sovereignty over constitutions.

But the people must believe something farther. They must believe in a high moral obligation binding on all to observe the Constitution, and that he who breaks it--who willfully disregards it, is a bad man. The hierarchy of ideas is perfect, but, carried out, it goes beyond our present topic. Morals must be the basis of Constitutions and of Civil Governments, and religion must be the mistress and monitor of morals. But when we see the curses brought upon our country by ministers, in the abused name of religion, we see that the hierarchy of ideas is not complete, unless somewhere on the earth, God has established a one tribunal, which He will keep free from error, and to which He attributes the power of correcting errors and excesses. This, however, is not to our present purpose--only we feel ashamed of mentioning religion in connection with our political disruption, without scouting and branding the adepts of the New England Protestant pulpit.--N. Y. Freeman's Journal.

FLOWERS.--Flowers in most parts of the world still are, and until three centuries ago in the British Islands were, used for superstitious purposes. But it is not a good reason for refraining from the use of them in homes to allege that they have been misused in temples. Hence, the use of floral decorations has always prevailed in most households of all ranks in these islands; and to supply them, the palaces have had their hot-houses, the villas, their conservatories, and cottages their window-sills. Women as if by an instinct of their sex, always have had near them the raw materials of the nosegay, the wreath and the garland. Many men also, as if endowed with a certain feminine delicacy of nature, have the passion for flowers, being in this respect their mother's boys, who cannot be happy without flowers, if only a hyacinth in their window, an acorn in the chimney-piece, or a pink in the button-hole. One who knew the late Mr. Leigh Hunt well said of him, that if you give him a few shillings to lay out for a table and a few chairs at a broker's you would soon find him in an elegant room; for with flowers and foliage stolen from the hedges, he would have it decked with graceful garlands and beautiful wreaths, with charming forms and colors, from which it was impossible to withhold admiration; and perhaps he received the expression of this admiration with a peculiar pride of his own, feeling that any money grabber could fill a room with costly upholstery, whilst only a mind like his could produce such impressions of beauty and refinement.--London Athenaeum.

A LADY having accidentally broken her smelling-bottle, her husband, who was very reticent, said to her:

"I declare, my dear, everything that belongs to you is more or less broken."

"True, for even you are a little cracked!" replied the lady.

A CAT caught a sparrow and was about to devour it, when the sparrow said: "No gentleman eats until he has washed his face."

The cat, struck with this remark, set the sparrow down, and began to wash his face with his paw, but the sparrow flew away.

This vexed puss extremely, and she said: "As long as I live, I will eat first and wash my face afterwards"--which cats do to this day.

A Set-to Between Blind Men.

The following good story is told by the "local" of the New York Courier des Etats Unis:

A few days since, a poor blind man, having on his hat a placard stating his infirmity, and carrying a box with confectionery, stood on the corner of Broadway and Rector street. At the same time another blind man, with the words "I am blind" on his hat, was coming down the street in another direction. A little case containing cakes and confectionery hung suspended from his neck. Suddenly a cry of distress arrested the passers by, and turning they beheld the two blind men on the ground, struggling in a mixture of candies, cakes and bonbons. To add to the confusion, the two men, exasperated at the disaster, were hurling at each other epithets more forcible than polite, and had it not been for the interference of some gentlemen they would have come to blows. "You block-head," said one, "why didn't you look out for your feet?" "And you, why didn't you get out of my way?" "How could I, when I am blind?" "You blind?--so am I." In short, this explanation was followed by a good understanding between both parties, and the good understanding by a touching recognition. "What is your name?" asked one. "Ottis Bush." And yours? "Theobald Harvey." "Theobald!" "Ottis!" "My dear comrade!" "My old friend!" And the two companions in misfortune warmly embraced each other. Their story is short. The men were natives of Ireland--had come together to America--and were companions in arms in Mexico. One had lost his sight by a wound, and the other by an explosion in a mine. They had been separated for a long while, and after the lapse of years met in the singular manner above related.

EXCUSE FOR USING TOBACCO.--In one of our neighboring towns the lads of a school acquired the habit of smoking, and resorted to the most ingenious methods to conceal the vice from the master. In this they were successful until one evening the master caught them at it, and stood before them in awful dignity. "How now?" shouted the master to the first lad; "how dare you be smoking tobacco?"

"Sir," said the boy, "I am subject to headaches, and a pipe takes off the pain."

"And you? and you? and you?" inquired the pedagogue, questioning every boy in his turn.

One had a "raging tooth," another "cholic," and the third a "cough," and in short, they all had something.

"Now, sirrah," bellowed the master to the last boy, "what disorder do you smoke for?"

Alas! all the excuses were exhausted, but the interrogated urchin, putting down his pipe, after a farewell whiff, and looking up in his master's face, said in a whining, hypocritical tone:

"Sir, I smoke for corns!"

THE LARGEST CITY.--A very erroneous idea is indulged in by many people in relation to the largest city in the world, many confidently asserting that London, or, as it is frequently termed, the Great Metropolis, is far superior both in size and number of inhabitants. But such is not the case. Jeddo, the capital of Japan, is, without exception, the largest and most populous city in the world.

It contains the vast number of 1,500,000 dwellings, and 5,000,000 of human souls. Many of these streets are 19 Japanese in length, which is equivalent to 22 English miles.

The commerce of Jeddo far exceeds that of any other city in the world, and the sea along its coast is constantly white with the sails of ships. "Their vessels sail to the southern portion of the empire, where they are laden with rice, tea, sea-coal, tobacco, silk, cotton and tropical fruits, all of which find a ready market in the north, and then return freighted with corn, salt, oil, isinglass, and various other productions of the north, which have a market in the south."

A FARMER, having made his fortune, moved into the city to enjoy it, but his old love clung to him, and he indulged in a very small way in the old pursuit. Visiting his friends in the country, and relating his experience in city farming, said:

"I put outside my window a large box filled with mould, and sowed it with seed. What do you think came up?"

"Why, barley or oats?"

"No, a policeman, who ordered me to remove it."

ONE day little Charlie came running to me, saying: "Ma, I saw a large snake down here." "What kind of snake was it, may dear?" said I. Oh! said he, it was an elastic snake. I did not understand, and asked what he meant. Being in the presence of some other ladies, he whispered: "It was a garter-snake, ma."

OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER.

SATURDAY, JULY 12, 1862.

Justices Blanks.

Blank Affidavits, Undertakings, Writ of Attachment and Subpoenas, under the new law, for sale at this Office.

COURT OF SESSIONS.—By our report in another column, it will be seen that the Court of Sessions had very little business at the term held last Monday and Tuesday.

EAGLE STEAM FLOUR MILLS.—On Monday next the Eagle Steam Flour Mills will commence operations for the season. Mr. R. Gardner has had the mill thoroughly overhauled, and is now in better running order than ever before.

NEW LANDING.—The Steam Navigation Co.'s Agent at this place has built a large platform, with a good and commodious gangway to the River, to facilitate the landing and delivering of freight. It materially adds to the appearance of the landing, and is a great convenience to passengers.

HESPERIAN COLLEGE.—This institution, concerning which we shall hereafter have something to say, terminated the first session for the present year on the 3d inst. Although no public notice was given, quite a gathering of parents and other parties interested, appeared as spectators of the closing examination and recitations. We learn that in every department, from Mathematics to Music, everything went off satisfactorily.

ELOPEMENT AND ASSAULT.—David Fletcher, who lives near the Willow Slough, returned to his home on Monday evening about two o'clock, and concluded he would not disturb his wife, proceeded to get into his house through the window. Upon gaining an entrance, he was surprised to find his place occupied by another, who jumped on Fletcher, and handled him rather roughly. On the following morning, the occupant, Eli Froome, assisted by Ben. Scott and Doan, went with a team to take off the erring wife of Fletcher. This he resisted stoutly, when the three (as he tells it) assailed him and held him until the wife was safely placed in the conveyance and gone. Fletcher went to Woodland and got out a warrant for the arrest of the three men, Froome, however, with the woman, arrived here, and took the steamer Defiance for Sacramento. The Sheriff arrived last night in pursuit. We understand one of the party, Doane, has been arrested.

State School Fund.

The Semi Annual Apportionment of the State School Fund, amounting to $41,442 79, has recently been divided by the State Board of Education. The county of Yolo is entitled to $769 82 at 61 cts. per scholar, which will be apportioned to the districts of the county, as follows:

District No. 1.....	$95 16
" " 2.....	53 07
" " 3.....	67 71
" " 4.....	127 49
" " 5.....	45 14
" " 6.....	17 69
" " 7.....	53 07
" " 8.....	19 52
" " 9.....	22 57
" " 10.....	54 90
" " 11.....	37 82
" " 12.....	18 91
" " 13.....	50 02
" " 14.....	32 33
" " 15.....	17 08
" " 16.....	26 23
" " 17.....	18 30
" " 18.....	12 81

Total,.....$769 82.

The Legislature of 1861 omitted to make the usual Annual Appropriation for the payment of the interest due for the fiscal year, ending June 30th, 1862, upon the principal of the School Fund, of which the State is Trustee. The Legislature of 1862 repaired this neglect, by appropriating $34,284 40, for the payment of said interest. Of this amount, but one half—$17,142 20—is included in the total amount—$41,442 79—now apportioned by the State Board of Education. The remaining $17,142 20 is now due to the several counties, for school purposes. It is not apportioned, because the Controller reports to the Board that it is impossible to transfer this amount from the General Fund to the School Fund, because there is no money at present in the General Fund. As soon as the condition of the Treasury will permit the Controller to make this transfer, the State Board of Education will make a supplemental apportionment of this $17,142 20.

The Pacific Railroad.

Congress has passed and the President has approved, the Pacific Railroad Bill, and at last we have this measure in something of a tangible shape. The bill provides for a donation of forty millions of dollars towards the construction of the entire road, and an area of public land the whole length of the road, and six miles wide—three on each side of the road, where the land is not previously disposed of by the Government. The Grant is a liberal one, and were our nation in the circumstances she was two years ago, the event would be hailed with enthusiastic joy by the citizens of this side the Continent; as it is, however, at present, with all our energies strained to quell a great rebellion—with our Treasury exhausted, and a thousand millions of public debt hanging over us, the speedy construction of this road cannot be expected. When the rebellion is crushed, and the nation resumes, to a degree, its old equilibrium and tranquility, and our public finances are fully ascertained and provided for, then we may expect to reap some of the benefits to be derived from the passage of the Pacific Railroad Bill, until then, the greater and more absorbing topic—the restoration of the Union—will absorb all other considerations.

Court of Sessions—July Term.

Hon. I. N. Hoag, Judge; John Hoagland and D. Schindler, Associate Justices.

This Court met July 7th, and organized with the following Grand Jury:

E. Bynum, Adrian Bloomer, Jno. Hollingsworth, W. W. Hannum, Edward Clark, Enoch Drew, Wm. H. Marden, L. C. Drummond, John Laugenour, Edward Patton, John M. Rhodes, J. W. Brown, J. E. Butler, J. W. Stoutenburg, Wm. Bray and Lewis Person, who, being unchallenged, were duly sworn in, with John W. Rhodes as Foreman.

The People vs. W. C. Wright: On motion of H. P. Hamblin, District Attorney, leave was granted him to prosecute the defendant, and Tiercy Wright, the Surety, for forfeiture of bond to keep the peace.

The Court adjourned till July 8th, at 10 o'clock A. M.

JULY 8th.—The Court met pursuant to adjournment; present as on yesterday.

The Grand Jury came into Court and returned a Bill of Indictment against a person not yet arrested, whose name will therefore not transpire until the arrest is made.

The charge of murder, against George Doane, committed upon the person of Samuel Fellows, ignored for want of sufficient evidence; and, on motion of the District Attorney, it was ordered that the Defendant be held to answer at the next term.

The Court then discharged the Grand Jury, there being no further business before the Court.

The People vs. W. W. Joseph: The motion of the District Attorney, that judgment of fortification be entered upon the Bond of the Defendant, and against his sureties, was heard by the Court and overruled.

The Court then adjourned for the term.

A MOOTED QUESTION.—When the Commercial Journals quote the Eastern Money Market at, say 110½ and 7.30, Treasury Notes 102½, what is the standard in the money market, or what species of negotiation stands at 100? In our simplicity we supposed gold was the standard, but it seems we are in error.

ASSAULT.—A youth of about seventeen summers, named Doane, was arrested by Sheriff Gray on the 9th instant charged with assault and battery on one Fletcher, of Willow Slough. The Sheriff is supposed to have warrants for several other parties, said to be concerned in the same assault, and rumor says that the affair originated about a woman, and wound up with a fight and an elopement.

THE INUNDATION IN ENGLAND.—The great plain in the eastern part of England, known as the Fens, has been overflowed by the tide breaking through the barriers erected against it. That section, watered by the Ouse, the Nene, and other rivers, comprises over one thousand square miles as level and low as Holland. By the bursting of a sluice near Lynn the sea rushing in over the country, laying fifteen thousand acres under water the first tide. It was expected that on the next visitation one hundred and forty thousand acres would be inundated to the depth of several feet. Men and animals were driven from their dwellings, and produce was floating about or being destroyed. It was feared that the total loss will amount to more than one million sterling.

BY OVERLAND TELEGRAPH.

The following dispatches are from the Sacramento Union of July 7th:

WASHINGTON, July 3.—A dispatch from McClellan to the War Department from Beckly Bar, dated July 2d, 5:30 P. M., states that he has succeeded in getting his army to that place on the bank of the James river and has lost but one gun, which he was compelled to abandon on Tuesday evening because it broke down; that the rear wagon train was within a mile of camp, only one wagon having been abandoned; that we had a severe battle on Tuesday; that we beat the enemy badly, our men fighting even better than before; that the men are in good spirits, and that reinforcements had arrived from Washington.

NEW YORK, July 3.—Our total loss during the whole six days of fighting, till Monday night, was about 12,000; 7,500 of whom were lost in the battle of Friday on the right.

A special dispatch to the Boston Journal estimates the total loss at 15,000.

FORT MONROE, July 2.—The steamer Daniel Webster, from City Point, with a number of wounded, has arrived. A gentleman in charge of them informs me that yesterday was the sixth day's battle which had been going on, with most terrific fighting extending along the whole line. Our loss will probably reach from 15,000 to 20,000. McClellan's headquarters are at Harding's landing to-day. His line extends five miles above toward Richmond. This move of the right wing was determined upon and planned ten days ago, and would have been carried out sooner, but for certain reasons it is improper to state. Notwithstanding the fact that the enemy's force was greatly superior to ours in every action, they have been repulsed oftener than we have. Their loss exceeds ours. Informant says McClellan and staff agree that the present position of the army is far more advantageous as a base of operations against Richmond than that hitherto occupied. The gunboats can now materially aid in carrying on the war. The enemy's force, as stated by the prisoners, was 150,000 men, while our effective force did not exceed 95,000.

BOSTON, July 2.—Gov. Andrew has issued a call to the people of Massachusetts to fill up to the maximum number all regiments now in the field, and for fifteen new volunteer regiments.

CHICAGO, July 3.—The Memphis Avalanche of the 3d says:

We understand from well informed sources South, that the leaders of the Southern movement have determined on a new programme. It is said that the new policy is to fight as long as it is possible to do so, but when they can do so longer, instead of surrendering and having their property confiscated and themselves disfranchised, the leaders will make a direct proposition to either France or England to become a colony or appendage. It is further said that the Southern leaders prefer, if the alternative is forced upon them, to become subjects of Napoleon. This may be a reason why Napoleon is engaged with colonizing schemes in Mexico. We give the above as the probable—nay, almost certain—policy of the Confederate leaders, if they should be driven to the wall. We have good reason for the belief that it is their solemnly declared policy in the emergency supposed.

NEW YORK, July 3.—The New York World's correspondent from the battle field before Richmond, at nine o'clock on the evening of Tuesday, has arrived here. He says McClellan's advance was three miles north of Hardin's landing, and within fifteen miles of Richmond. The enemy were terribly repulsed in Monday's battle, which was desperate in the extreme. We were attacked at four points, and summarily repulsed the enemy at three, when they pressed Heintzleman's left hard, but Sumner went to his relief, and the enemy were finally repulsed with great slaughter. Heintzleman captured eight guns and a whole brigade, some 1,600 strong, including their Colonels, Pendleton of Louisiana, and ex-Congressmen Lamar and McGowan of South Carolina. All our siege guns have been safely removed to the river, except one, which was dismounted. Our transportation is all safe, except seventy-five wagons, which we burned in camp. In Monday's fight, Kearny, Hooker, Richardson and McCall participated. The reserve under McCall suffered severely. Generals McCall and Reynolds are missing—probably taken prisoners. The rebel Gen. Stonewall Jackson is undoubtedly killed—all the prisoners corroborating the statement.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The Senate has passed a bill requiring the Pacific Railroad Corporators to meet at Chicago on the second Thursday in September next, prior to which six weeks notice must be given.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—The Richmond Examiner of the 24th gives the following relating to the battle of Monday: On Sunday morning General Hill and Longstreet, with their divisions, crossed the Chickahominy, and late on Monday morning attacked the enemy five miles northeast of Fort Darling, on the Newmarket road. The conflict was terrible, and by 8:30 P. M. the enemy had been driven back a mile and a half. At half-past 9, being heavily reinforced the enemy made another stand. The loss here on the Confederate side was terrible. The situation being hopeless against such overwhelming forces, Gen. Hill steadily retired.

The Washington Republican says it thinks the divisions which went into the fight on Friday fourteen thousand strong, could number only six thousand men for duty on Tuesday, and that the loss of life exceeds that of any battles yet fought.

About eight o'clock on Tuesday morning, the Richmond Examiner says, Jackson's and Huger's divisions attacked McClellan's left flank on the west side of the Chickahominy, seventeen miles from Richmond. Later in the day Magruder fell upon the right flank. The fighting was going on until Tuesday night. Heavy firing from the gunboats on James river was heard on Tuesday morning.

A number of Federal transports are in the river with reinforcements from Burnside.

Advices received at the War Department show that there was no fight on the Peninsula yesterday up to five o'clock P. M.

EVENING.—The latest advices received by the War Department from McClellan, are dated at 9 this morning, up to which time there had been no fighting since Tuesday.

Gen. Dix reports the arrival to-day at Fortress Monroe, of 550 rebel prisoners, being part of those captured in the last battle—among whom are several Colonels and Majors.

Accounts from Fredericksburg says the greatest distress is prevailing among the inhabitants. The Thirtieth Virginia rebel regiment, raised in that town, have been cut to pieces.

NEW YORK, July 5.—The Fortress Monroe correspondence of the Tribune, dated July 3d, says:

Gen. McClellan's position cannot be flanked by any force, however great. Supplies of all kinds have arrived in abundance, and the army is in the best possible spirits.

City point was burned on the morning of the 3d, by the gunboats, thus destroying the shelter of the rebel sharpshooters. James river is filled with transport vessels and steamers. There are over 20 gunboats in the vicinity of Harrison's Landing.

The rebel prisoners state their loss at 30,000, while ours will not exceed 10,000. The rebels had over 200,000 troops engaged.

FORTRESS MONROE, July 2.—Colonel Smith's command, 1,000 strong, connected with the reserved cavalry, arrived here safe. This command, with 1,500 infantry and flying artillery, were under Gen. Stoneman, attending to the removal of the Government property from West Point. They left that point on Saturday evening, retreating to Williamsburg and thence to Yorktown. There they were taken in transports. The men are all in good spirits. They lost only two of their number, who were captured while on picket duty.

FORT MONROE, July 3.—The Nellie Baker, from Harrison's Landing, which she left at 5 o'clock, has arrived. She brings some prisoners and some of our wounded. The action of Tuesday is represented as most terrible, and a most brilliant success attended our arms. The rebels were defeated at every point. The prisoners admit a loss of 10,000 on that day. Our artillery was most successfully handled, while very little execution was done by the rebels. As fast as the enemy's forces were cut to pieces, fresh troops were marched forward to fill their places, the leaders seeming to disregard the lives of their men, and holding them under the hottest fire of our guns. The enemy has been driven back in every fight for the last three days. The steamer Venderbilt has arrived with 1,000 wounded.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—A dispatch to the War Department from McClellan, dated 1 o'clock A. M. July 4th, says:

No fighting since Tuesday night, when the enemy were repulsed with great slaughter. The position now occupied affords superior advantages for co-operation with the gunboats, of which seventeen are now in the river, protecting our flanks. A statement of the casualties in the severe battles of seven days cannot be furnished. Our forces were not beaten in any conflict. No guns have been lost since the 27th, when McClellan's division was overwhelmed, and 25 pieces fell into the hands of the enemy.

NEW YORK, July 5.—The battle of Tuesday lasted from five in the morning until nine P. M. We took twenty-four guns from the rebels, who came up all ways three or four lines deep. The canisters of the rebels were filled with whisky and gunpowder.

CAIRO, July 5.—The ram Monarch brings news from Vicksburg to the 28th. On Thursday, Porter's mortar fleet commenced to shell the upper rebel battery below the town. This continued all day without result, and was renewed on Friday morning. In the afternoon, the fire was directed on the town, over which the shell were plainly seen to burst, and conflagrations were seen in numerous places.

This continued till four o'clock. The rebel batteries during the bombardment replied feebly, firing inaccurately. After the cessation of the bombardment, the water batteries opened on the mortar fleet, which replied until the battery ceased firing. At eight P. M. fire was opened from the entire fleet on the town and continued for an hour. The next morning at four o'clock the bombardment was renewed, during which eight of Farragut's vessels passed the batteries without serious damage. The city must have been damaged greatly.

We are informed on indisputable authority that five thousand negroes have been ordered by General Butler to work on a canal across the bend on which Vicksburg, or its remains, are now situated. The channel of the Mississippi will thus be changed and Vicksburg will become an inland town. Orders had been sent to New Orleans for more shell to reduce the remains of the place.

NEW YORK July 5.—Sterling exchange, 121½; gold, 9½ premium; bars, 10½. Exports of specie to day, $2,500,000.

CAPE RACE, July 5.—The Hibernia has arrived with Liverpool dates to the 27th and Londonderry advices to the 28th.

It is asserted that Napoleon has resolved to send sufficient troops to Mexico to force their way to the Capital against all obstacles. Admiral Gravier will immediately take command. There will be a strong concentration of war vessels in American waters, which concentration, the Patrie says, is justified by what may arise out of the American war and Mexican affairs.

A Fourth of July Trip to Colusa.

Two of our citizens, which we shall designate as Doc and Sam, concluded, from excess of patriotism, to have a grand time on the Fourth, and to carry this out effectually, they engaged for weeks beforehand, a fancy team of a pair of Black horses and carriage to convey them to the scene of celebration near Colusa. The event was a momentous one, and required much preparation. The commissariat department must be duly provided for, and, like the stores procured by the stewards of the western river craft, a barrel of whiskey and a pound of crackers, so, with our pleasure-seekers, it was all fluid and no solid. Well, the time of departure approached, and on the afternoon of the 3d, having obtained suitable directions as to the road, &c., they started in grand style, intending to stop half way over night, and go in to the celebration in good time in the morning. Their team being fresh and free, and the spirits of the drivers at high ebb, the half way house was reached long before it was sun down. It was too bad to stop yet; had not we better go to Colusa, and stay over night? There being no objection, this course was decided on. The day was fast drawing to a close, and no sign of Colusa. It had been warm; and to counteract the effect of the sun, both had partaken freely of the store of beverages; now it was necessary to keep up the supply to counteract the chills and dew of night. It was getting dark rapidly. Doc, having an eye to business, had carried along a roll of hand bills to be stuck up on the route. Their own language will come nearer than any thing else describing the jollity of the occasion: Doc—"Pass along the bottle, Sam, (hic) throw her overboard, if she's empty, Sam, (hic) plenty more left." Met a Dutchman on a mule; "Say is this the road to Colusa?" "Vell, vot you want to go to Colusa, ha? Vell, den you see dem doo houses about von mile towards you yonder, vell, von ish ter barn, ven you gits dar, you yust turn der barn around, and take der house mit your back, and go right straght on till you comes midt the shloogh, and den you comes to a gate dat opens towards you, dis way (motioning with his hand from him) and den you ish on der right road." "All right, old fell—take a drink (hic),—you're a brick (hic) Pass the bottle, (hic) Sam. Sam, open the gate (hic)—the Dutchman (hic) said this was the road (hic)." The gate was opened, according to directions, and they passed into a field of about ten acres, in the middle of which was a tree, and it being dark, they commenced driving around the field, once in a while passing close to the tree. "Stick up a bill, Sam; all right (hic) old boy—every body knows me here. D—n long road to Colusa. Stick up (hic) a bill, Sam." "Can't do it, Doc, (hic) the tree is full." "Put her above, (hic) Sam! Pass along the bottle, Sam, and as fast as they get empty throw 'em out. H—l of a long road to (hic) Colusa. Stick up another bill, (hic) Sam." "Can't get another on the tree, Dec." "Stick her on a limb, (hic) Sam." All things have an end, and so with the night of the 3d. Day began to dawn, and with the light our heroes found they had been travelling round the inside of a ten acre field all night, with one tree in it, and, strange to say, that tree was covered with Doc's bills.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCK.—The La Porte Messenger of July 5th says:

A severe shock of earthquake was felt here last Wednesday, at about five o'clock in the afternoon, the oscillation being from southwest to northeast. Persons from the surrounding country inform us that the shock was felt at various points. Hon. J. M. Cunnard felt it at Mooreville, Butte, county, twelve miles from here. He was taking supper at the time, and the shock set the plates dancing on table. Hart, of Whisky Diggins, informs us that he felt the shock while working in his tunnel, 1,800 feet from the entrance. The earth trembled and the timber used as support cracked, so that the miners thought the tunnel was about to cave in.

THE REBELS CLAIM A VICTORY.—Private letters from Baltimore state that Jeff Davis had issued an address to the rebel army, in which he designates the Battle of the Seven Pines (Fair Oaks or Chickahominy) as a glorious victory for the rebel arms. He also tells them that they have made 8,000 prisoners, taken 70 guns, and a large quantity of provisions and munitions of war.

OMITTING TOO MUCH.—A green, good-natured, money-making up country fellow, who said every thing dryly, "got things fixed," and struck a bargain for matrimony. Having no particular regard for appearances, the parties agreed to employ not an overwise country justice to put on the tacking. He commenced the ceremonies by remarking that "it was customary on such occasions to commence with a prayer but he believe he would omit that." After tying the knot, he said "it was customary to give the married couple some advice, but he believed he would omit it. It was customary, too, to kiss the bride, but he believed he would omit that." The ceremony being ended, the bridegroom took the justice by the button hole, and clapping his finger on his nose, said: "Squire, it's customary to give the magistrate $5—but I believe I'll omit that."

PUBLICATION OF WAR NEWS.—The President has ordered a Military Commission to meet on the second Monday of July, for the trial of editors and correspondents of certain journals which have violated the orders with respect to the publication of matter calculated to give aid and information to the enemy. Gen. Harney and Colonels Taylor and Craig will be members of the Commission.—National Intelligencer.

THE Missouri Convention adjourned Saturday, after a session of two weeks, in which every question of a public character brought before it was disposed of in a very satisfactory way.

An ordinance was passed continuing in office the present Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and Secretary of State, until January, 1864. Another defines the qualifications of voters at all elections, which we have already published.

A third amends the Constitution of the State, whereby all elections after the 1st of July, 1862, are to take place on the Tuesday after the first Monday of November; the effect of this amendment being to postpone the election for all officers in this State until November next.

Another ordinance provides the manner in which loyal citizens now in the army may vote.

An ordinance was also passed dividing the State into nine districts for the election of Representatives in Congress.

The Emancipation Bill, as we have already stated, was "killed the first pop," by a vote of almost three to one. Before the adjournment, a resolution was adopted, on the suggestion of Governor Gamble, taking notice of the proposition of the President and Congress in relation to gradual emancipation in the slave States.

Some matters of smaller moment passed, and the Convention adjourned.—St. Louis Republican, June 16th.

BUCKEYE MOWER.

Farmers Buy the Best Machine!!!

THE Buckeye has proved itself to be the best Mower, and

MOWER & REAPER COMBINED.

That has ever yet been brought into use. It has the following advantages over other Machines:

It has two driving wheels which support the whole weight of the frame, gearing, driver and rake.

It has a double hinged finger-bar, belonging exclusively to the Buckeye Mower, which conforms to all varieties of surface, and can be easily raised to pass obstructions.

It has no cog gearing in the driving wheels—it is entirely free from side draft—the draft is lighter than ordinary ploughing.

As a REAPER, it has all the advantages of the Mower. The Reed is attached with a flexible joint, which allows it to follow all the movements of the Platform on uneven ground.

The platform is readily adjusted to any required height of cut. The weight of the Raker is directly over the axle of the machine instead of being carried on the Platform, where it adds greatly to the side draft. It has many other Improvements over the old style Mower and Reapers.

Knight's Landing News.

BEAUTIFUL ANSWERS.—A pupil of the Abbie Sicord gives the following answers: What is gratitude? Gratitude is the memory of the heart. What is hope? Hope is the blossom of happiness. What is the difference between hope and desire?

Desire is a tree in life; hope is a tree in flower, and enjoyment is a tree in fruit. What is eternity? A day without yesterday or to-morrow—day without end. What is time?

A line that has no ends—a path that begins in the candle and ends in the grave.

What is god? The necessary being, the sun of eternity—the machinist of nature, the eye of justice, the matchless power of the Universe, and the soul of the world.

Does God reason? Man reasons because he doubts; he celebrates—he desires. God is omniscient, he never doubts—he therefore never reasons.

EVERY heavy burden of sorrow seems to us an oppressing and overwhelming forever—a tombstone tied to us, which must drag the doomed one down into the depths; but we forget that these weights are often only such as are fastened to divers, that they may descend to gather pearls, and then to be drawn up with their riches.

If a block of iron, weighing 100lb, is raised to a white heat, and a continued stream of steam brought into contact with it an increase of 30lb will be made to its former weight. The heated metal decomposes the steam and absorbs about 30 per cent. of its weight of oxygen.

ANGER.—Anger is the most impotent passion that accompanies the mind of man; it effects nothing—it goes about and hurts the man who is possessed by it more than any other against whom it is directed.

MOTHER.—“Here, Tommy, is some nice castor oil, with orange in it.”

Doctor—“Now, remember, don't give it all to Tommy—leave some for me.”

Tommy—“Doctor is a nice man, ma; give it all to Doctor.”

POLITENESS is like an air-cushion—there may be nothing in it, but it eases the jolts wonderfully.

Also, the following

Reapers and Mowers,

Improved for the harvest of 1862:

Burt's Eagle Combined Machine; New York do.; McCormick's do.; Heath's Eagle do.; Kentucky Harvesting Machine;

Haines' (Illinois) do.; Ball's Ohio Reaper and Mower; Manny's Improved Machine.

Esterly's Improved Machine; Rugg's Combined machine; Vermont mowing machine; Buckeye do.; Bay State do.; Molly Stark (Ohio)

Mower:
And sole agents for the celebrated Nourse, Mason & Co's

Ketchum's Improved Mowers,

With or without Reaper attachments—the best mowing machine in use. They will be furnished this season at greatly reduced prices, bringing them within the reach of every farmer. These machines are very much improved, and never fail in the matted or lodged clover—cutting with equal ease the tall or tangled grass without clogging or breaking; and so close that it will save from one to five dollars' worth of hay per acre more than any other machine. They are furnished with

Reaper Attachment, at small cost—making them a good and serviceable combined machine; and when all other machines have failed in the tangled grain, the work has been done by the Ketchum machine to the perfect satisfaction of all. The one horse machine cuts four feet; the light two-horse machine cuts four and a half and five feet—two sizes; the heavy two-horse machine cuts five and five and a half feet, two sizes. Any boy capable of driving the team can manage the machine; it is not liable to get out of order.

The New Bay State two-wheeled Mower.—We have purchased the patent right to the New Bay State Mower for the State of California. It is one of the many machines lately invented, and stands far ahead of all others in point of excellence as a two-wheeled mowing machine, having all the new improvements that have been fairly tested. It is very light, strong, durable machine, and cuts full four and a half feet.

The Vermont Mower.—Also, a two-wheeled machine. It is made mostly of iron, simple in construction, and can be managed with ease.

The Buckeye Machine has two driving wheels like the Vermont machine, and is simple in its construction.

The Molly Stark Mower, (manufactured at Canton, Ohio), is a very light mower, of the Buckeye pattern.

Ball's Ohio Harvester, (manufactured at Canton, Ohio), is a two-wheeled Reaper and Mower. Has two cutter bars—one for reaping and one for mowing. We have imported a few for trial this season.

The Kentucky Harvester cuts about five and a half feet. Said to be a very good machine.

McCormick's Reaper and Mower—a very good reaper—intended for four large horses.

Burt's Eagle Reaper and Mower, (Improved for 1862.) Baker & Hamilton, sole agents for this machine in California and Oregon.

We have imported these machines for the past two years, which were furnished to some of our neighboring farmers and thoroughly tested. They gave general satisfaction both in cutting grain and grass. The style is very much the same as the celebrated Esterly's machine, except that they are better made; have a strong iron finger bar; are hand-raking reapers and have no side draft. They have a large four foot driving wheel. The outside grain wheel is thirty inches in diameter. The driver's seat is over two iron truck wheels, each thirty inches in diameter, and the machine may be turned round without crowding the horses, as there is no weight upon their necks. They have two sets of gearing for fast and slow motion; a smooth knife for mowing, and a sickle for reaping; the back of each is made of hammered cast steel. They cut about six and a half feet, and can be worked with two light horses. We have but a few for this season's trade, owing to the fact that the great demand at the factory made it impossible for the manufacturer to fill our orders for a large number in season for shipment to this market.

Rugg's Reaper and Mower, cutting six and nine feet. This machine cuts in advance of the horses, and the cutter can be raised by the driver from one to twenty-four inches. Sold very cheap.

Haine's Illinois Harvester, or Header, cuts ten feet. Improved for the harvest of 1862. We have also imported complete sets of trucks, or running gear for header-wagons, with neck yokes and whiffletrees complete.

P. Manny's Improved Combined Reaper and Mower.—This is a new style of machine, very light, yet strongly built, lately patented by P. Manny, in which there are many valuable improvements. We are willing to guarantee this Combined Reaper and Mower in every instance.

We have imported a large stock of extras for repairing Reapers, Mowers and Thrashers, all of which will be sold cheap for cash.

—ALSO—

Haying and Harvesting Tools Of every description necessary to meet the wants of the farmers. These they have in large quantities, and can supply to traders wholesale and retail, at San Francisco prices.
